I am contacting you with the proposition of considering our singular company for your design, build & maintain landscaping needs, in the hopes of creating a mutually beneficial business relationship. Our goal for each project is consistent: harmonize built with natural environments in a sustainable fashion. This aspiration makes imperative the need for all involved in the building process to collaborate; one of our most salient traits.

We possess an extensive and eclectic palette of vocations, experiences and education, drawing from:

- landscape design
- roadway installation & repair
- residential & commercial construction
- business management & marketing
- organic vegetable and fruit gardening
- conservation
- horticulture, agriculture & forestry
- engineering
- consulting
- public speaking & education

Our company pools together these talents in a familial way. Most of us are involved in the green industry as a second, third, or additional profession. For all of us, the company evolved from our deep reverence for nature. In individual ways, we all live off the land here in the foothills of the Laurel Mountains, borrowing from nature for food, heat, recreation, and education. The vast opportunities in the green industry provide us an opportunity to earn a living, leave a legacy for our children, and return something to the planet. We are wildly passionate about these efforts.

Relentless in our pursuits of knowledge, we continuously research trends, products, and best management practices in the industry through classes, workshops and conferences. Our affiliations and certifications evidence this commitment borne of innate curiosity.
